Fiscal 2025 Schedule C Introduction

The Fiscal 2025 budget, the third adopted by the Council under the leadership of Speaker Adrienne E. Adams, demonstrates the Council's clear-eyed approach to meeting the needs of the communities we represent and New York City's working families. Through this process, we have been clear about the fiscal realities the city faces, but also that we have the resources necessary to invest in and protect the services New Yorkers rely on. While this budget demonstrates the Council's commitment to restoring services and programs, it is imperative that the City move away from a budget process focused on restorations and towards one that strengthens the supports New Yorkers need to thrive.

The Path from Preliminary Budget to Adoption

Preliminary Budget

The Adams Administration released its Preliminary Financial Plan for Fiscal 2025 to 2028 (Preliminary Plan) on January 16, 2024. In evaluating the Plan, the Council found some of the cuts projected in the Mayor's November Financial Plan had been resolved through updated revenue projections that more closely reflected projections of the Council and other City fiscal monitors, though several items were omitted and projected risks carried over. Yet, the Council found the Office of Management and Budget's updated projections continued to underestimate available resources, projections that did not recognize additional resources in Fiscal Years 2024 and 2025, nor in the outyears, which left these years critically underfunded. Substantial cuts to 3-K programming, CUNY, and the City's libraries and cultural organizations left substantial needs for a budget that met New Yorkers' needs.

Budget Response

On April 1, 2024, the Council submitted its response to the Preliminary Financial Plan for Fiscals 2025 – 2028 (Budget Response) which balanced the need to strengthen the City's fiscal foundation for addressing its major challenges with providing funding for critical programs and preparing for future economic hazards. The Council achieved this by successfully identifying $6.15 billion in unaccounted-for resources through Fiscal Year 2025 to reverse destabilizing budget decisions, address the underbudgeting in the presented Preliminary Budget, account for the expiration of federal stimulus dollars, while still strengthening the City's financial reserves. Specifically, the Council identified $3.35 billion more tax revenues in Fiscal Years 2024 and 2025 than the Office of Management and Budget projected, $2.25 billion in potential agency underspending, and $550 million of in-year reserves that were not going to be utilized.

In the Budget Response, the Council provided recommendations for investing these resources in the following areas:

- Laying a strong foundation of housing for New Yorkers and families;
- Prioritizing continued access to education and learning;
- Advancing a healthy and safe City;
- Enhancing institutional pillars of the City, and;
- Strengthening opportunity and services.

The Council formulated its proposals in the Budget Response in recognition of concerns we heard from New Yorkers across all neighborhoods, taking a full appraisal of the resources at hand and advancing clear priorities. The health, safety, and well-being of our neighborhoods and economy are all linked to how we fulfill our mandated responsibility to equitably provide services.

The Council also continued to press the Administration for increased transparency and accountability in their budgeting practices, including:

Discontinuing the use of vague and overly broad units of appropriation (U/A's) in favor of smaller U/A's that properly show programmatic expense spending; and

Improving the Mayor's Management Report (MMR) by establishing clearer targets for all agency performance indicators and explaining variances when they occur with significant indicators.

Executive Budget

When the Mayor released the Executive Budget on April 24, 2024, it reflected only a portion of the $6.15 billion in available resources the City Council had identified in the Budget Response, while leaving too many of the cuts initiated in the Preliminary Budget intact. The Administration did include $1.18 billion in funding for Council priorities and restorations, described below by program area. Nevertheless, critical support for New York's mental health services, anti-recidivism programs, and libraries and cultural institutions remained unaccounted for. The Council insisted on its balanced approach to protect vital services while continuing to stabilize the City in its approach to formulating an Adopted Budget.

Adopted Budget

The Fiscal 2025 Adopted Budget totals $112.4 billion, and restores essential programs and services for New Yorkers in every community – including key Council priorities in education, libraries, cultural institutions, housing, and more. The Council secured over $1.22 billion in funding restorations and targeted enhancements as part of budget negotiations across the capital and expense budgets.

Education

The Adopted Budget provides an additional $169.7 million for a number of important educational programs for K-12 students, in addition to $252 million included in the Executive Budget, for a total increase of $337.4 million. This includes funding for school-based social workers and psychologists ($74 million), arts education ($41 million), Learning to Work ($31 million), literacy instruction and dyslexia programming ($17 million), shelter-based community coordinators ($17 million), and translation services and bilingual staff ($16 million). The Adopted Budget includes funding to hold individual school budget harmless ($75 million), support Community Schools (an additional $14 million at adoption, for a total of $70 million), additional funding for school food staff ($20 million), restorative justice programming ($12 million), teacher recruitment ($10 million), mental health continuum and school-based care ($5 million), arts education ($4 million), Student Success Centers ($3.3 million), LGBTQIA+ inclusive curriculum ($2.8 million), and the outward bound crew model ($1.6 million). Digital learning ($5 million), Computer for All ($4 million), tutoring ($4 million), and Civics for All ($2 million) promote a well-rounded education for students, while $5 million supports parent and family engagement, with an emphasis on immigrant New Yorkers. The Council's education initiatives total $40.0 million in Fiscal 2025, which includes a new initiative for substance abuse prevention and intervention specialists ($2 million) and a $250,000 enhancement to the Support for Educators initiative.

Early Childhood Education

The Council secured $100 million in the Adopted Budget specifically for Early Childhood Education on top of the $193 million in the Executive Budget, for a total increase of $293 million. Funding of $112 million supports early childhood education seats ($92 million to maintain 3K funding in the Executive Budget, and $20 million for additional Pre-K and 3K seats at Adoption), with $111 million allocated towards special education (including $55 million for new seats to address the waitlist for Special Education Pre-K seats at Adoption and $56 million for Special Education Pre-K in the Executive Budget). Additionally, the Council secured expansions of full day/full year early childhood education seats (with $25 million additional in the Adopted Budget, for a total of $40 million), the Promise NYC program ($25 million) and marketing and outreach ($5 million in the Executive Budget).

Higher Education

The Council secured $36.5 million in the Adopted Budget to sustain and enhance key programs across the City University of New York (CUNY) system. This includes $15 million for CUNY restorations, $10.1 million for CUNY Accelerate, Complete, and Engage (ACE – of which $1 million was restored in the Executive Budget), along with $5.9 million for the CUNY Reconnect program to help working New Yorkers with college credits re-engage with school and complete their degrees. The Council also negotiated $4.5 million for ASAP for All, $1 million for STEM, and $500,000 for a new initiative for social work fellows. The Fiscal 2025 total for the Council's higher education initiatives is $24.5 million.

Youth and Community Development

The Council won $32.2 million in the Adopted Budget for necessary services to benefit the City's youth, including a $19.6 million restoration of funds for the Summer Rising program, $11 million to provide MetroCards for participants in the Summer Youth Employment Program, and $1.6 million for Runaway and Homeless Youth (RHY) housing navigators. In Fiscal 2025, Council youth initiatives total $15.8 million, with an additional $5.8 million for the Young Women's Initiative.

The Council has invested $42.8 million in community development initiatives in Fiscal 2025, including a $10 million enhancement for adult literacy programs, and new initiatives totaling $6.7 million: $3.8 million to building language access infrastructure for the community interpreter bank and language services worker cooperatives, $1.9 million for support for low wage workers, and $1 million for community development financial institutions (CDFIs). The Council has also allocated $28.0 million for small business and workforce development initiatives.

Housing and Homeless Services

The Council successfully negotiated a $2 billion increase in capital funding to preserve and construct thousands of units of affordable housing and create new homeownership opportunities for low- and middle-income New Yorkers. In the Executive Budget, the Council secured an additional $614.9 million for CityFHEPS vouchers to reduce homelessness, of which $540.3 million will be baselined beginning in Fiscal 2026. These historic investments are alongside $6.8 million to maintain security guards at New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA) senior buildings, $4.7 million for 60 additional Department of Buildings (DOB) inspectors (associated with the City of Yes for Economic Opportunity), $4.2 million to enable neighborhood rezonings conducted the Department of City Planning (DCP) (included in the Executive Plan), and $1 million for a new estate planning initiative to preserve generational wealth in communities of color. Housing initiatives designated by the Council total $17.2 million in Fiscal 2025, with an additional $3.7 million for homeless services (including $1.5 million for an innovative guaranteed income pilot program).

Human Services

The Council negotiated an additional $72.5 million for a diverse array of human services programs supporting vulnerable New Yorkers. The Adopted Budget includes $31.9 million for the community food connection program, $10.7 million to expand Fair Fares to more low-income commuters, and $10.1 million for the Shelter to Housing Action Plan. Older New Yorkers will benefit from $12.2 million for older adult centers and $4.75 million for enhanced rates for home-delivered meals. Additionally, the Council negotiated for $410,000 for the City's Commission on Human Rights (CCHR), and $285,000 for the Equal Employment Practices Commission (EEPC). The Mayor's Office of Contract Services (MOCS), which underpins human services contracting, receives $1.1 million, and $1.1 million is also included for the City Clerk. The Council has also allocated substantial initiative funding in the Fiscal 2025 Adopted Budget for veterans ($3.4 million, of which $540,000 is for a new initiative for Veteran Resource Centers), food ($11.9 million, enhanced by $1 million for the food pantry initiative), older New Yorkers ($29.0 million), and immigrant New Yorkers ($35.2 million, of which $4.4 million is for a new initiative for legal services for low-income immigrants).

Health and Mental Health

The Council secured $5.4 million to restore Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH) HIV/AIDS contracts that help hard-to-reach patients maintain their health. The Council's expansive health services initiative portfolio totals $24.8 million in Fiscal 2025, including an enhancement for Trauma Recovery Centers to $4.8 million. The Council has allocated a further $29.1 million for mental health services, including new initiatives for mental health clubhouses ($2 million) and youth mental health peer support ($250,000).

Public Safety

The Council built on public safety successes totaling $18.6 million in the Executive Budget with $23.6 million in additional funding included in the Adopted Budget. The Executive Budget restored $10 million for recidivism reduction programs at the Mayor's Office of Criminal Justice (MOCJ), and included $8.6 million for community-based solutions for violence interruption. The Adopted Budget includes $6.4 million for justice-involved supportive housing, $5 million to support communities affected by hate crimes, $4.3 million for cannabis enforcement, $2.7 million for re-entry and discharge planning, $2.1 million for Alternatives to Incarceration (ATI), $2.1 million for the Civilian Complaint Review Board (CCRB), $600,000 for the Department of Investigation (DOI) protest monitoring unit, and $400,000 for the Board of Correction (BOC). In Fiscal 2025, Council initiatives for public safety total $5.8 million, with an additional $14.5 million for domestic violence services and $37.8 million for criminal justice services.

Parks and Sanitation

The Council secured $23.7 million for the Department of Parks and Recreation (DPR), including $15 million for second shift workers to enhance park maintenance, and a number of restorations: $4.1 million for urban park rangers, $2.6 million for the urban gardening GreenThumb program, and $2 million for tree stump removal. Council initiatives for parks and recreation total $5.4 million. Furthermore, the Council negotiated an additional $25 million for improved litter basket pickup through the Department of Sanitation (DSNY), as well as $6.2 million for community composting within the Council's initiative portfolio. Together these investments will improve the quality of public space and overall environment throughout the City. Council initiatives for the environment total $25.6 million in Fiscal 2025.

Culturals and Libraries

The Council successfully negotiated $118.9 million in funding for cultural organizations and libraries in Fiscal 2025, with $60.6 million for cultural institutions (of which $7.6 million was restored in the Executive Budget), and $58.3 million for libraries – preserving this precious resource on the weekends for families, English language learners, and readers of all backgrounds to enjoy. Council initiatives total $34.4 million for cultural organizations and $15.7 million for libraries in Fiscal 2025.

Budget Reform and Transparency

The Council has continued its push to increase transparency and accountability in how the City's money is spent. The Fiscal 2025 Budget includes a record 65 Terms and Conditions and 11 new Units of Appropriation. These efforts enhance transparency in the City budget for the public and advocates, while ensuring the Council maintains its Charter-mandated ability to set and modify spending priorities.

Schedule C

Schedule C reinforces the Council's commitment to supporting our communities above and beyond the core services already provided by City government. Our spending plan complements the long-term stability, performance, and transparency measures the Council negotiated for as part of the larger budget.

Discretionary Funding

Each year, Council Members allocate discretionary funds to not-for-profit organizations and designate funding directly to City agencies in order to meet local needs and fill gaps in City services. While not a large part of the budget, this funding allows the City to take advantage of Council Members' localized knowledge to better target services to residents. Council rules adopted in 2014 raised the already high standard of transparency by which this funding operates in requiring that the method used to allocate funding among Members be publicly disclosed.

In this budget, each Council Member is allocated a base $400,000 in expense funding. Members are further allocated an additional $25,000; $50,000; $75,000; or $100,000 depending upon the level of poverty in the district.

Procedure and Requirements for Designation

Schedule C designates funding for community-based, not-for-profit and other public service organizations and to City agencies. For funds designated to organizations, the expenditure of any funds for each organization identified in Schedule C is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of 1) a detailed initial review process; and 2) all applicable City procurement requirements at the time of contract award. Even then, funding may be used only for appropriately reimbursable expenses, as determined by the administering agency.

For-profit entities may not receive discretionary funds, except when the primary not-for-profit funding recipient subcontracts with a for-profit entity as part of the delivery of services. Such proposed subcontracts, however, must be:

- only an ancillary part of the program to be funded - not the primary basis for the discretionary award; and
- pre-approved by the contracting agency and the City Council.

The New York City Council and the Mayor's Office of Contract Services (MOCS) have established the following review for all organizations listed in Schedule C:

The Council reviews the public purpose, potential conflicts of interest, compliance with the New York State Charities Bureau, past performance, compliance with laws, rules, regulations, and policies, including not-for-profit status, any reported investigations, audits, inquiries, and other relevant information; and MOCS reviews organizations which were allocated more than $10,000 cumulatively in this fiscal year to confirm whether the organization has been prequalified, indicating organizational capability to establish a business relationship with the City of New York and deliver specific services.

While approved subcontractors of organizations that receive discretionary funding are not generally required to submit a prequalification application, they are subject to conflict-of- interest disclosure requirements, as are not-for-profit organizations. Prior to the designation of community-based not-for-profit and other public service organizations, members disclose on the record any potential conflicts of interest with organizations funded by other members.

Organizations subject to the training requirement are those that receive less than $750,000 in discretionary funds (per fiscal year). Organizations that receive $750,000 or more in cumulative discretionary funding (per fiscal year) are exempt from completing City Council's Capacity Building Training. MOCS prequalification is administered through PASSPort and renewed every three years. Each organization's compliance with annual filing requirements is reviewed each year to maintain prequalified status. In addition, the Department of Cultural Affairs (DCLA) administers the Cultural Development Fund to establish prequalification for organizations awarded cultural funds through DCLA.

Further restrictions to ensure the appropriate use of City funds will be incorporated through the City's procurement process.

All organizations receiving funding pursuant to an initiative will be subject to prequalification review and approval by the Mayor's Office of Contract Services.

Anti-Poverty

When allocating funding this year, the Council used a poverty indicator to provide a basis for which to fund programs. Poverty was estimated at the Council District level using 2016 American Community Survey data, specifically the number of individuals below the federal poverty level. Funding to the listed organizations will help to address income disparities throughout the five boroughs.
